

Healthy Weight
Research Network

Children with Autism Spectrum Disorder
& Developmental Disabilities

FREE WEBINAR

Essential Experts: Community Engagement in Research

Thursday, January 30, 2025

1:00 - 2:00 PM EST

Why is it important for researchers to collaborate with the communities they study? Emily Richard, an autistic adult and cognitive neuroscience researcher, will discuss community-engaged research both from the perspective of a community member, and from the perspective of a researcher.

Learning Objectives

Attendees will learn:

1. What community-engaged research is
2. How community-engaged research benefits both researchers and communities
3. How community members can contribute throughout the stages of research
4. What it's like to be a community partner in a research project, and what it's like to be a researcher collaborating with community partners

SPEAKER:

Emily Richard, MA

Graduate Research Assistant
George Mason University

TO REGISTER:

https://bit.ly/HWRNWebinar_Emily_Richard

The Healthy Weight Research Network (HWRN) is coordinated by the E.K. Shriver Center, UMass Chan Medical School and supported by a cooperative agreement with Maternal and Child Health Research Program, Maternal and Child Health Bureau (Title V, Social Security Act), Health Resources and Services Administration, Department of Health and Human Services. Award # UT4MC41898.

Learn more about the HWRN at <https://hwrn.org>

Eunice Kennedy
Shriver Center